

Electrical power and machines deals with electrical energy, generation transmission and distribution. Machines and systems for the conversion, delivery and use of energy in electrical form are also addressed in this area.